This is our survey page, your starting point for mental health chats. It's like walking into a comfy space where you can see what we're all about. As you scroll through, feel free to answer the given questions and join the conversation about mental health with us.

- About Us Page

This page explains what we want to achieve and how we plan to do it. We talk about our goals and approach, including why we chose the name DIWA for our website and what it means in terms of supporting mental well-being.

- Blog Page

This is the Blog which we called Mental Health Wall. There will be latest updates for the information and awareness for the Mental Health Problems. This is the Wall where you can learn how you can cope up with mental health problems. This is also where you can learn more information.
